Ike Tours Paris In Triumph

Conferences Begin With De Gaulle

PARIS (AP)—President Eisenhower toured Paris in triumph Wednesday and opened his talks with President Charles de Gaulle amid an outpouring of excitement and affection rivaling the city's day of liberation in World War II.

Swept with emotion and choking as he spoke, Eisenhower told a vast, silent French throng: "I can only say that over the years, this city, this country has become to me, like it is for almost every American, something very dear."

Then he said he would attempt one sentence in French: "Je vous aime, tous"—"I love you, all."

Thousands of people, packed tight in the great square in front of the Hotel de Ville (city hall), yelled, cheered, waved flags and handkerchiefs in frenzy of almost hysterical enthusiasm.

Paris is the third major European capital—Bonn and London were the others—to explode with a thrilling, spine-tingling demonstration over Eisenhower, who is consulting with his allies as the prelude to an exchange of visits with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

In numbers, it equalled the gigantic London outpouring. A million or more Parisians lined the streets and jammed the squares where the President appeared. In fervor, it was like the roaring, chanting scenes in Germany.

"We like Ike," said a red-white-and-blue placard blazing down two floors of a great department store.

"Vive Ike," the crowds roared.

"Eek! Eek! Eek!" yelled a short, bearded Frenchman, jumping up and down to see over the heads of the crowds lining the broad avenue Champs Elysees.

That's the French pronunciation of "Ike."

Public Appearances

Between public appearances, Eisenhower and De Gaulle held their first two conferences. One was private except for the presence of two interpreters. At the second and longer meeting, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and French and American aides joined them.

"Everything has gone very well between us," De Gaulle told the throng at the Hotel de Ville in a statement introducing and warmly praising Eisenhower before Eisenhower rose to speak.

Eisenhower said the talks began in a "good and encouraging manner."

Diplomatic sources said they covered four points—a summit conference, NATO, Algeria, and Berlin.

From the French point of view, the Algerian rebellion is the thorniest topic and perhaps the one De Gaulle wants most to discuss with Eisenhower.

Support

Eisenhower would like American support in the United Nations for whatever plan he proposes to advance for solving the Algerian nationalist rebellion that is costing France a billion dollars a year. The details are his own closely guarded secret—unless he disclosed them to Eisenhower.

The word in Paris is that he hasn't even divulged them to his own cabinet ministers.

But it was the excitement, the pageantry, the ritual, the massed bands, the forest of flags, the storms of applause, and the sight of loved old regimental colors that thrilled Paris Wednesday.

Eisenhower rode the crest of a great wave of affection all day.

A high point came when he and De Gaulle relived the heady days of World War II victory in a parade up the Champs Elysees.

Changes Made In Deadlines For Advertising

Conferees Agree On Labor Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — After 12 days of haggling, Senate conferees agreed Wednesday on a compromise labor bill to curb union racketeering.

The final product was closer to the somewhat stiffer version the House passed than to the measure the Senate passed last spring. Leaders of organized labor had opposed both, especially the House bill.

The compromise immediately was taken to the Senate, where a vote was scheduled Thursday.

The conferees topped their final hurdle in late afternoon, working out an agreement on how to deal with picketing at construction sites.

In its final form, the compromise provides means that are intended to guarantee the rights of union members and to safeguard union treasures.

It also would ban secondary boycotts and extortion picketing, limit organizational picketing, and spell out a procedure for the states to dispose of labor disputes the National Labor Relations Board refuses to handle.

The product of the conference represented a victory for President Eisenhower who had urged many of the provisions it contains, especially bans on secondary boycotts and blackmail picketing.

There was no immediate comment from the White House, or from Eisenhower, now in Paris.

But Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell issued a statement in which he said: "I am extremely pleased that the Senate and House conferees have agreed to labor-management relations legislation of the type the President has long requested."

Nehru's statement that "civil authority must remain supreme" apparently squashed reports that Krishna Menon would leave the cabinet.

Sources close to Menon and high in the ruling Congress party said Menon had offered his resignation. Menon and other high government officials refused to comment until Nehru could appear in Parliament.

Nehru termed Thimayya a gallant soldier but scolded him for resigning when India's borders were threatened.

Nehru did not refer to the commandants of the air force and navy who were reported to have resigned with Thimayya.

The AFL-CIO didn't like the Senate's original version either, but was inclined more to it than the House bill which it called a union-busting measure.

No Steel Progress

NEW YORK (AP) — Top-level negotiators in the nation's 50-day-old steel strike met for two and a half hours Wednesday after a five-day recess but the session apparently produced no progress toward ending the work stoppage.

The reference was to death in the electric chair.

"Well," said young Agron, "you're going to find out anyway."

In a final burst of bravado, he snarled at the policeman: "I don't care if I burn. My mother could catch me."

The reference was to death in the electric chair.

Agron's mother, who left the boy's father behind to come to this country when her son was a child of eight, rushed to the police station with a Bible in hand. She said her son used to read it but had quit.

She caught a glimpse of him and pushed through a crowd of officers and newsmen. But the five-foot seven, 110-pound boy stonily brushed past.

So far this year, 10 have been killed. The past week

Education Legislation Passes House

HARRISBURG (AP) — The administration's higher education program narrowly squeaked through the House Wednesday. It calls for a statewide system of junior colleges and a new state agency on college-level education problems.

A last-minute switch by a Republican legislator put the junior college bill across, 106-75. It takes a minimum of 106 votes to pass legislation in the House.

The House approved creation of a council on higher education, 113-63.

Both Measures

Although both measures had bipartisan sponsorship, only a handful of Republicans voted for them. Rep. Page Varner (R-Clarion) switched his vote to the affirmative at the crucial moment to save the junior college bill.

In another major move in the education field, the House agreed to use money out of a little-known special fund to help school districts bring their buildings up to fire prevention standards.

The board solicitor, Edmund P. Turtzo, concurred with this opinion and the board then instructed the secretary to deduct the costs of such tuition from that money paid to the East Bangor system for Upper Mount Bethel students attending East Bangor schools.

Consideration

Emery also urged consideration of the purchase of school buses instead of the use of privately owned school buses. It is his belief that the saving of several thousand dollars to the system could be affected, and he urged further study of the suggestion.

Edward Demensky, tendered his resignation as assistant football coach, which was accepted, and Dale Baker was formally elected to replace Demensky.

The purchase of new sweatshirts for cheerleaders was approved.

David Thomas was formally elected as home-and-school visitor and appointed assistant high school principal.

The board voted $100 salary increases to all clerical help.

The cost-of-living bonus voted to all professional employees was continued.

The school authority of the system was formally organized last night, by electing William Scott, Bangor, chairman; Peter Renaldo, Roseto, vice chairman; (Please Turn To Page Five)

Steel Could Save Bangor $662,000

BANGOR — The School Committee of the Bangor Area Joint School System last night was informed it could save $662,000 on the construction of a new Senior High School if the state would approve the use of the all-steel building.

E. F. Everitt, architect, reported the construction cost of the conventional building as proposed would be $1,830,000. Members were informed, however, that the all-steel building, complete, with all equipment would cost $1,177,645. This would mean a saving in the amount mentioned above.

As a result, Merle Mabus, board secretary, was instructed to contact the United States Steel Corp. pursuant to sending a representative to the board to give authorized information.

School Superintendent

Superintendent of Schools Donald B. Keat informed the board that he had been in Harrisburg Aug. 22 and during a conference with an official of the Department of Public Instruction he was told the state was not aware that the Bangor area was so deeply interested in the all-steel building. As a result the DPI is making arrangements for a meeting between the committee and the director of Architectural Services of the DPI.

Keat also indicated that he felt the state was talking favorably on the all-steel building.

A letter was received from the East Bangor Board of Education informing the Bangor Committee that they would refuse to pay the tuition of any East Bangor pupils attending Bangor High School.

Walter Emery, Portland, questioned the legality of East Bangor's position in that they do not have their own high school and, therefore, any pupils can attend any high school which will accept them.

The board solicitor, Edmund P. Turtzo, concurred with this opinion and the board then instructed the secretary to deduct the costs of such tuition from that money paid to the East Bangor system for Upper Mount Bethel students attending East Bangor schools.

It.

Eisenhower rejected the bill because it provided funds for planning and starting 67 projects he had not recommended, along with hundreds of other rivers and harbors and flood control works provided for in his budget.

The House Appropriations Committee made plans immediately to meet today and draft a new bill omitting the 67 projects. Chairman Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.) said he expected the revised bill be passed without difficulty Thursday or Friday.

Meanwhile, a move was started in the Senate to tack the public works money onto Eisenhower's 3½-billion-dollar foreign aid appropriations bill now being prepared in committee.

The outcome in the House was a jolt to Democratic leaders, who had radiated confidence in advance. Since the bill contained money for projects in virtually every congressional district, these leaders counted on holding the Democrats in line while picking up support from many Republicans.

But on the final vote only 11 Republicans joined 263 Democrats in voting to override. At the same time, 6 Democrats voted with 132 Republicans to sustain the President's veto.

TWO boys, ages 10 and 11, managed to do more damage in a few minutes desecrating the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church last night, than most people could do in hours.

The youths, East Stroudsburg Police reported, broke into the church and destroyed property, plus throwing books, hymnals and other religious matter around the building sometime between 6 p.m. and 7 p.m.

Religious tracts used in the Sunday School were scattered throughout that section of the church, and strewed into the piano. A small adjacent office to the Sunday School was also ransacked.

The altar was the target of their combined attack, as the chancel candles were broken into small pieces and ground to give the rug at the pulpit.

American and Boy Scout flags were thrown onto the floor and walked over.

Both Smeared

The Bible on the pulpit was smeared with human defecation.

A dining room in the basement of the church was littered with paper cups and paper plates, thrown around in profusion.

In the kitchen, the vandals had thrown flour onto a pile of dough towels.

Gilbert Hastings, custodian of the church, told police he saw the two boys in the church, and when he made a slight noise the two started running from the building. Hastings gave chase, he reported, and caught them within a few blocks. He made the identification for police later.

The boys told police they gained entrance to the church through an unlocked window. They had been at the church, just before the desecration, for a drink of water, had left and later returned.

When questioned by police for their reasons for causing so much damage, which was estimated at about $300, the boys could give no good reason for their actions.

Police Officer Donald Quick said the two would be turned over to Probation Officer Henry McCool for continued action.

Conversion Of Hamburg Approved

HARRISBURG (AP)—Anthracite region opposition to the proposed conversion of the Charles H. Miner Hospital at Hamburg, Berks County, into a school for mentally retarded children faded Wednesday. The House approved the conversion, 186-5.

Rep. Frank P. Crossin (D-Luzerne) said the desire of the hard coal area to continue the hospital as a tuberculosis treatment center must take a back seat to the need for new facilities for the mentally retarded children. His view was seconded by Reps. George W. Heffner (R-Schuylkill), John F. Bonner (D-Carbon) and Stanley A. Melchick, William B. Curwood and Fred J. Shupnik, all Luzerne Democrats.

certainly a smart move on the part of the investor. Real estate investments can be every profitable—more profitable than investments in stocks and bonds, while giving their holders comparative safety and the probability of gradual increases in both value and dividends for the future.

The key to your parents' situation should be that "reliable real estate broker" you know has recommended the purchase of a small "taxpayer" property, on which there is a self-liquidating mortgage.

However, my husband says that the money should be invested in stocks and bonds only—that real estate is not good for people 62 years old.

What is your opinion?

A. You have taken on quite some of their money into bonds or debentures makes sense. There are many debt securities on which a high interest return can be obtained. Just make certain that your parents are aware that debt securities don't offer absolute safety. Bonds and debentures should be purchased for the income they produce.

Your husband is wrong when he tries to connect investing in real estate to the age of the investor. Real estate investments can be every profitable—more profitable than investments in stocks and bonds, while giving their holders comparative safety and the probability of gradual increases in both value and dividends for the future.

Now, if you propose to invest all of your parents' money, that could be a disastrous mistake. Everybody should have a cash reserve tucked away. That goes double for your parents, now that they are retired and have a health problem.

Gunman Captured Following Holdup In Downtown Easton

EASTON (AP) — A gunman held up the woman cashier of the Northampton County Building and Loan Assn. in downtown Easton and made off with $121.75, and less than 10 minutes later was caught at a bus depot.

Police named the thief as Jack T. Dante, 23, of New York. He is a Negro.

The cashier, Mrs. Elizabeth Jacobs of Nazareth, was alone. She said the man was in the office earlier in the day inquiring about a home repair loan. When he came back, she related, he drew a gun and said: "Don't do anything foolish; I just want the money." She gave him all there was in a cash box.

When taken at the depot, Dante had $267 in cash, but no gun. Authorities said he will be charged with armed robbery.

Taxpayer's Stake

Success has attended the first phase of Monroe County Home Assn.'s fund-raising campaign to free Laurel Manor, the county's home for the aging, of its present indebtedness.

Donations amounting to $23,300 were reported at the halfway point Tuesday night. This put the drive within sight of the $27,000 needed to qualify for a $5,000 grant from the S. S. Kresge Foundation.

The co-chairmen, Mrs. Frank S. LaBar and Spencer C. Cramer, are striving to put the drive over the top during the final 15 days of the solicitation and are calling upon the campaign sponsors to redouble their efforts between now and Sept. 15.

While we agree with them that a greater push will be required to raise the last $21,700 of the $50,000 goal, we have a feeling that, once the full story is understood, the campaign will have a special appeal to every taxpayer in the county.

We say that because the home has an attraction from a dollars and cents viewpoint, as well as on the strength of the humane purpose it serves.

This results from the fact that the home is designed to operate on a self-supporting basis while absorbing some of the caseload which otherwise would be shifted to the county-supported home at Kellersville.

It follows that any savings in the cost of operating the County Home is reflected in lower institution district taxes; hence, every taxpayer has a stake in Laurel Manor.

It behooves everyone, then, to support the association's present drive for capital funds to free the home of debt. Let's subscribe the last half of the $50,000 even quicker than the first!

Taxes Ahead For Baby

It would be naive to expect any nation-wide roar of astonishment at the announcement that the nation's total tax bill — national, State and local — mounted last year to $98.3 billion.

It's not easy to visualize a sum like that. Besides, we have all grown a little numb to the beatings administered by our lawmakers.

It brings the facts home somewhat when the figure is broken down to an average: it amounts to $567.63 for every man, woman and child.

Even so, the great majority have been brain-washed into thinking that they came out ahead in this annual bite. Some of them draw down sizeable benefits in pensions, social security, unemployment compensation or what-not, to offset, or greatly exceed, what they pay in invisible taxes. Many relax with a comfortable feeling that a great part of the load has been transferred to the backs of the rich or the corporations.

The Pennsylvania Story

State Parks Popular

Harrisburg — It may come as a surprise to many but—the best bargain in Pennsylvania today is a visit to a State Park! It costs the Department of Forests and Waters about 4½ cents per visitor.

Those with a taste for scenery would be hard put to find more beautiful settings than those to be found at Ricketts Glen State Park in Luzerne County or Colton Point and Leonard Harrison State Parks atop Pennsylvania's "Grand Canyon."

Those have become an important part of American life. Modern business, recognizing this, want to build where its employees can find the recreational facilities around the community in which they are interested.

But parks are not just a place where people have a good time. They have become an important part of the State's economy.

They attract tourists to the state. Tourism has grown in-

A nuclear fission specialist was engaged by a culture-loving hotel proprietor to address his guests after luncheon on the tree-shaded lawn of the establishment. "These folks are up in New Hampshire for a vacation," demurred the scientist. "Nobody at all will come to hear a talk on nuclear fission."

He couldn't have been a worse prophet. Despite the fact that it was a perfect day, the guests turned out en masse to hear the lecture.

I must admit I was gratified," the scientist told a smiling girl when the session was over. "Don't be too gratified," she warned. "After all, what else can you do after a heavy

It would be naive to expect any nation-wide roar of astonishment at the announcement that the nation's total tax bill — national, State and local — mounted last year to $98.3 billion.

Some of the burden he thinks he is escaping comes back to rest on his own shoulders, through higher prices. And if he thinks that his children, at least, aren't paying that $567, he might look at the new figures on the national total of government debt.

The total now amounts to $334 billion, the Department of Commerce reports. This amounts to $1,930 for every person in the country.

The baby may not be paying taxes yet, but wait! That debt will be waiting for him when he grows up. The present generation will be leaving him a dubious heritage if it blithely scoffs at President Eisenhower's concern for a balanced budget, and his warnings that we should not expect our grandchildren to pay for our roads.

In effect, China has historically been a civilization rather than a country; a way of life rather than a government. Whether the Chinese Communists can alter varying traditions, create a single tongue out of more than a hundred languages and dialects; break down countless variations of traditional habits — all this is yet to be seen.

Present indications are that they are not succeeding as rapidly as they had expected.

Such countries as Nepal, Bhutan and Sikkim lie in the Himalayas on the borders of two civilizations, the Chinese and the Hindu. In such countries, the variations of religious and traditional and linguistic experience become mixed.

The influences of Hinduism (Brahmanism), Buddhism and Confucianism are strongly intermingled and produce blooms that are different and variegated. The peoples are blended, as all border peoples are mixed everywhere in the world.

In Asia, where plural marriage has been usual, centuries of inter-mixture of races and peoples have produced new races and new peoples in each generation with a sturdy peasantry that represents a basic stock.

Red China, by moving into Bhutan and Sikkim, serves notice on India and the world that its immediate territorial designs reach to the Chien Lung line which will also include some territory in Kashmir.

This can produce a war with India that could, and probably will if it happens, involve Great Britain as a member of the Commonwealth, and the United States as a SEATO power. Nehru is, however, not one to make war readily.

Whether it is cowardice or an Asiatic brand of pacifism, he prefers to talk rather than to fight. The Communists are breathing down his neck and he cannot talk much.

Is this a pleasant introduction to Khrushchev's visit to this country?

The Kuomintang, when it took over the government of China under Chiang Kai-shek, gave up the five-barred flag, denying, in effect, the racial differences and distinctions among the Chinese people.

The number of distinct races in China is greater than the flag represented, including many aboriginal pre-Chinese peoples.

The Kuomintang adopted the principle of nationalism, a principle which had never existed in China before and was not understood by the Chinese people. They had believed in the principle of local self-government, "dian chui," which had stood them in good stead for centuries.

Point State Park in Pittsburgh and Independence Mall State Park in Philadelphia are the hearts of re-development programs in those two cities.

Parks bring in business; for the investment, the taxpayer would be hard put to find another program that gives him a better return.

Unfortunately, the demands on our parks are mushrooming and we are having a hard time keeping up with them. Our cities are growing so fast that they are gobbling up the surrounding countryside before we have a chance to find, finance, and develop parks to serve them.

The State Planning Board is at work drafting a bill for the next session of the Legislature which would allow the Department of Forests and Waters to work with counties in setting aside areas for future development as parks.

As Life Magazine pointed out several weeks ago, this legislation—the first of its kind in the country—would help save some land for parks before developers built houses on it, but still would permit the state and counties to wait a few years before actually building the park.

But, again we come back to my initial point—the best bargain today indeed is a visit to one of our many state parks!

Chien Lung Line

The Manchus, a Tatar race, came through the Great Wall into China in 1644 and conquered the country. They continued their conquests until they reached their apogee during the reign of the Emperor Chien Lung.

Injuries Treated At Dispensary

SUFFERING from pain in a puffed up left ankle he injured in a game of football, Robert Somers, 15, of 835 Grove St., Stroudsburg, was among those who turned up at Monroe County General Hospital Dispensary for treatment recently. A fracture was discovered, and he was given a walking cast.

Susan Ostroff, 12, Brooklyn, N. Y., was engaged in a ball game when the ball struck her directly on the tip of her left thumb. X-rays showed what may have been a chipped fracture. The dispensary applied a protective padded aluminum splint.

Marilyn Rich, 20, Brooklyn, acutely twisted her right ankle a month ago. She came to the dispensary after twisting it again. A giben boot, held in place with a splint and ace bandage, was applied after x-rays showed the possibility of a strain fracture.

Charles Margretta, 33, of 2100 N. Fifth St., Stroudsburg, reported to the dispensary for a check-up following an auto accident in upper New York State the day before. He had suffered lacerations of the right lower lip and left knee, a contusion of the face and a bruise on the right shoulder. Examination showed that the lip and knee stitches appeared to be doing all right, but that the shoulder was still sore and stiff.

James Coleman, 16, 538 Barry St., Stroudsburg, also involved in the accident, reported that his right arm and left hand went through the windshield. The dispensary treated him for a contusion of the scalp and inspected the lacerations on both his hands. X-rays showed glass fragments in the right hand, but no infection, and removal of the fragments was left until later.

Legislation Covers Tax Formula

HARRISBURG (AP) — The figures and formulas which the state Tax Equalization Board uses in determining market values would be available to any school district under a proposal introduced recently in the Senate.

The figures certified by the board are used now in determining the amount of state subsidy each school district shall receive.

Present law provides for a hearing when the district is not satisfied with the board's figures but makes no provision for any further appeal.

Other legislation introduced in the Senate would:

Require the blood type and RH factor of a driver to be printed on his operator's license—Sens. Albert S. Pechan (R-Armstrong), Israel Stiebel (D-Philad.) and George N. Wade (R-Cumberland).

Provide 80 per cent state reimbursement for the expenses of young farmer extension courses in school districts and vocational school districts — Sen. Jo Hays (D-Centre).

MR. AND MRS. H. J. LaBar, Miss Linda LaBar and Peter LaBar spent several days in Virginia visiting Mrs. LaBar's brother and sister-in-law, WO/2 and Mrs. Donald Hauser and Paul Donald Hauser.

The Ben Geshenskys will celebrate their 17th wedding anniversary August 30. They hope to have several lifetime friends from New York and vicinity with them for the occasion.

Maj. U. S. Army, chaplain with the U. S. Army, stationed at West Haven, Conn., drove down from Milford, Conn., with his wife and Gray Johnson, Jr., and Bonnie Johnson to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson. They had with them Mrs. Jack Rodriguez of Pine Bluff, Ark., who was making her first visit to Monroe County.

Miss Estelle Mitchell, who is spending her vacation here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mitchell, will soon be leaving for Coatesville where she is to teach third grade in one of Coatesville's schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Shultz, who have been living in the Nace bungalow on Broad St. for more than a year, have moved to the trailer they purchased. The trailer, at first on Chipperfield Drive, is now located on Day St. in East Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Estella Swaboda has returned from Philadelphia to visit Mrs. George Hauser. Mrs. Mary Major returned to her Philadelphia home after spending the summer with Mrs. Hauser.

The final auctioning of household articles at the former Preston Rinehart home drew a small crowd who bid steadily though not high. The articles had to be sold and removed at once as Mr. Rinehart sold the house and lot at a recent morning auction. A resident of the West End purchased it.

School Series

Gasoline, Good Class Grades Refuse To Mix

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The teenager hot rod enthusiast or jalopy jockey is becoming recognized as a special problem in many high schools.

He often presents a hazard to life and limb in the school area. He often uses the automobile to escape from extracurricular activities which would be helpful to him. And all too frequently his automobile is responsible for poor grades.

Sometimes it is responsible for his dropping out of school before graduation, according to an article in the NEA Journal, published by the National Education Association.

The issue came to the fore about a year ago when a high school principal at Rexburg, Idaho, found that in his senior class no straight "A" student drove an automobile to school, but 83 percent of the failures did. In between, 15 percent of the "B" students drove, 41 percent of the "C" students, and 71 percent of the "D" students.

Other principals then found a similar correlation between grades achieved and student driving customs. In some instances, however, this was not true.

It appears that among the economically privileged students, for whom the ownership and operation of an automobile presents no financial problem, a car is no particular handicap. It is a definite handicap, however, for the student who has to strain to find the money for gas, oil, repairs and installment payments.

These students are apt to spend much time fussing over their automobiles to save money on repair bills, and they often drop out of school for several days at a time to get the money for payments or for operating expenses.

Some even drop out of school entirely to earn the money for payments or for operating expenses. Some even drop out

FORTY-TWO Stroudsburg plant employees of the Bell Telephone Co. returned to work yesterday.

The employees members of the Federation of Telephone Workers of Pennsylvania, walked off their jobs in sympathy with a McKeesport employee of the company in his dispute over a transfer under the firm's seniority system.

The walkout spread across the state with 97 percent of the plant employees in the Scranton district.

Scott Co-Sponsor Of Bill For Credit Corporations

HARRISBURG — Sen. William Z. Scott (R-Lansford) is co-sponsor of a measure to establish regional business development credit corporations.

These corporations would assist, promote and encourage through their institutional and corporate stockholders the development of property and advancement of business and economic welfare of various regions of the Commonwealth.

Such corporations would be empowered to borrow money through the issuance of bonds or notes and to lend money to any person or corporation for the aforementioned purposes.

The measure (SB 103) was referred to the State Government Committee.

The school administrators in Danville, Ind., found a few years ago that 50 students were driving to their small public high school. Dies Of Polio PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — M. Alan Feney, 47, president of the American Hereford Assn., which has headquarters in Kansas City, Mo., died of bulbar polio recently. Feney had been in an iron lung since July 16.

The bill would allow retail licenses to remain open until 2 a.m. Sunday, the same as on other days.

In New York and New Jersey, licenses remain open even later and then open again on Sunday afternoon.

Station On Moon

A MANNED station on the moon could forecast the earth's weather to an extent now impossible, says Dr. Donald H. Menzel, director of Harvard College Observatory.

The bill would allow retail licenses to remain open until 2 a.m. Sunday, the same as on other days.

In New York and New Jersey, licenses remain open even later and then open again on Sunday afternoon.

Major Thomas S. Hanson

Navy Veteran Major In Army Post

TOBYHANNA—A Navy veteran of 16 years service is now executive officer of the 972nd Signal Battalion, a Regular Army unit here at the Signal Corps Depot.

He is Major Thomas S. Hanson, who resigned his commission as Lieutenant commander in the Navy on June 18, 1957, and entered the Army one day later.

The sudden change from one service to another didn't prove upsetting to the major, who is used to making quick adjustments.

When the Japanese struck at Pearl Harbor, he was aboard a Navy destroyer off the California coast. Ordered to patrol duty, he was dropping depth charges on enemy submarines before most Americans realized the country was at war.

Hanson's Navy career began in 1936 in Omaha, Neb., when he joined the reserves as seaman third class. Entering on active duty in 1938, he was commissioned an ensign two years later.

World War II

During World War II, besides chasing Japanese and German submarines, he helped set up communications on advanced Pacific naval bases.

After the war, he was assigned to a Joint Task Force that engineered the first hydrogen test blasts on Enewetak and Bikini.

For two years, 1953-1954, he did recruiting for the Navy in Chicago, and before resigning, he was industrial security officer in the Office of Naval Material.

And what does Hanson miss most about the Navy?

"The beautiful nights at sea," he says. "Nothing compares with a sunset after an electrical storm, with balls of fire sitting on masts and yardarms."

But the Army has its advantages. It allows him to live at home with his wife in Mount Pocono and be near his grown son and daughter.

"After all those years at sea," he says, "that's a mighty nice feeling."

Salk Vaccine May Spoil

MONTREAL (AP)—Officials feared this week that 75,000 stolen shots of Salk vaccine would be spoiled before it could be recovered and used in Quebec province's polio epidemic.

Four masked gunmen stole the vaccine from a research laboratory in suburban Laval des Rapides early Monday. The bandits overpowered a night watchman and put him in an empty monkey cage.

Sal Mineo and Terry Moore, starring in Twentieth Century-Fox's CinemaScope, DeLuxe Color production of "A Private's Affair," now playing at the Pocono Drive-In Theatre, on Route 611 just north of Stroudsburg. This couple form one third of the love interest in the hilarious farce about draftees and their problems in love and with the Army. Also being shown is "Born To Be Loved," starring Carol Morris, Miss Universe of 1957. This is another big first run, first area showing for the Pocono Drive-In.

New Civil Defense Movies Available In Monroe County

NEW CIVIL defense movies are available for use by any service club, social group, local C.D. director, fire company or other interested persons, Monroe County C.D. Director Marshall Reese announced yesterday.

The Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization has revised and brought up to date its films to keep abreast of advances in weapons technology, he said. Twenty-three new films are on hand.

They range from "Bomb-proof" and "Fallout" to "The House in the Middle," "Nerve Gas Casualties and Their Treatment" and "Rural Community Defense."

Mrs. Catherine Miller, county administrative director, said she will take reservation orders for the films. She said persons should give her three weeks' advance notice. Films can be obtained in time. They are scheduled in Harrisburg.

Booklets of the various phases of civil defense are available at the county office in the Court House, Stroudsburg, and can be used to complement the films, Mrs. Miller said.

Merger Consideration

WASHINGTON (AP)—A congressional committee said recently it is time to consider merging the Army and Air Force into a single, missle-armed fighting service.

Mine Fund Shrinks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United Mine Workers reported recently that its welfare and pension fund shrank during the past year from $145,832,703 to $134,531,905.

South Sterling Clergy Answers Rotary Talk

NEWFOUNDLAND — Both approval and disapproval of statements made by Rev. William Vaughn Ischle, Jr., rector of Christ Episcopal Church, Philadelphia, during a meeting of the Rotary Club this week were voiced by a South Sterling clergyman yesterday.

"I agree wholeheartedly with Father Ischle who points out the need for action in solving the unemployment problem," the Rev. Arthur Campney, pastor of the South Sterling Methodist charge said. "But I cannot agree that the problem would be solved by changing the Blue Laws."

"Perhaps it is the popular thing to agree with that part of society seeking to approve drinking and the sale of alcoholic beverages on Sunday. Perhaps the Blue Laws are outmoded. Perhaps, basically, the Blue Laws are entirely unnecessary, in that we, as Christians and as thinking people should not require legislation to compel morality at all. However, the ends in this case do not justify the means. That is to say, the solution of unemployment in Pennsylvania does not call for repeal of the Blue Laws and the go-ahead to serving drinks on Sunday.

"I do not feel that the miracle of water changed into wine, quoted by Father Ischle, should mean to us that Christ approved of drinking of alcoholic beverages. This is what we call 'proof-texting' or going to Scripture to find an answer that is already in our own minds. I could name dozens of verses in the Bible that point out that drinking is wrong.

"For example, there is Isaiah 5:11: 'Woe unto them that rise up early in the morning, that they may follow strong drink; that continue until night, till wine inflame them.' And Proverbs 20:1: 'Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging, and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise.'

"However, the ends in this case do not justify the means. That is to say, the solution of unemployment in Pennsylvania does not call for repeal of the Blue Laws and the go-ahead to serving drinks on Sunday.

"And we must be realistic in facing the facts. We must do something about unemployment. We must do all we can to relieve the situation. But we must not let ourselves be led into the belief that by legalizing an evil, namely the sale of alcoholic beverages on Sunday, we are providing a solution to the problem.

"We must in this matter of drinking, follow the dictates of our own conscience, in that we do what we know to be right. We do not, actually, need our Blue Laws limiting the sale of alcoholic beverages. We know better.

"Rev. Mr. Ischle is to be commended for his efforts in the field of relieving unemployment. I believe he is also to be criticized for the method by which he proposes to solve both the problems of unemployment and the problem of increased taxation."

Ross Common Review Gains 'Rave' Notices

By Harlan Stone
FAIR WARNING: a rave

agonists is sometimes ludicrous, sometimes seriously revealing.

The actors at Ross Common Playhouse are performing something this week which is better than their July production of "Streetcar Named Desire." It's Tennessee Williams' "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof."

Someone must have spread the word in advance, for the playhouse' biggest opening night crowd of the Summer, over 100 persons, was there Tuesday night.

Williams' play has all the outward attributes of a classic tragedy—the suicidal gestures, the defiance of death, the undeserved suffering and a chorus.

Brick's bedroom is the scene of the constant and prolonged agonies, quarrels and bickering of Brick himself, Maggie his wife, Big Daddy and Big Mama. They are constantly interrupted by the no-neck monster children of Cooper and Mae, a preacher, a doctor and the servants, who all burst into the room with foolish questions and toy guns, sing silly songs off stage and constantly parade back and forth shouting and yelling.

The contrast between them and the serious production is sometimes ludicrous, sometimes seriously revealing.

Brick's room is hung with diaphanous drapes which give the impression of dissolving walls. Ironically, the protagonists spend most of their time trying unsuccessfully to fight their way out of this enclosing space and the lies they have built up.

Brick swings his crutch savagely at Maggie; Big Daddy has to knock Brick down to keep him from the crutch; Maggie and Mae go at each other like a couple of cats.

They're all cats dancing on a hot tin roof—Brick, Maggie and Big Daddy—all forced to play roles they don't want.

Brick has to drink liquor to live with his homosexual past, Maggie is unwillingly a love-starved wife and Big Daddy is faced with death by cancer.

Director Carmine R. Ponti-lenga has chosen to use parts of both versions of the third act. Big Daddy appears in the last act here, as he does in the second version Williams wrote to please Eli Kazan, his Broadway director. But, as in Williams' first version, it is doubtful here how Brick feels toward Maggie when he finally consents to sleep with her. Outwardly he is black-

Pat Gibson is supreme as Maggie, especially in her long first act part in which she alternates between scorn for the no-neck monster children and her intense yearning for Brick. Miss Gibson literally lets down her long red hair at one point. She's got the figure for a sexy part.

William Vance as Big Daddy is big, gruff and obscene, a man with an insatiable sexual appetite. Vance becomes really tragic when Brick tells him he has cancer. His eyes start and he looms big, both physically and symbolically, as he heads off stage yelling that everyone has been a liar to him.

What every man should ask himself on Labor Day

Bonds help you—and America

If you're like most Americans, you're working to make a dream come true.

Maybe it's to bring your son up to be a doctor... or to buy a home in the country... or to go into business for yourself. Whatever it is, it's going to cost money. And that's where the big question comes in.

Will the money be there? Even though you'll earn enough over the years to make your dream come true—will you have enough?

You can be sure of answering "yes"—if you save. Regular saving is the surest road to the things you want for the future. And you can take a tip from over 40 million of your fellow Americans: there's no better, easier, more satisfying way to save than with U.S. Savings Bonds.

You can buy Bonds automatically, through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work; or you can buy them where you bank. Either way, you'll be amazed at how fast they mount up, bringing your dream closer to reality every day. And your Bonds will be doing another big job at the same time—providing urgently needed money in America's effort to keep the peace.

Today over 40 million Americans own an all-time high of nearly 43 billion dollars in U.S. Savings Bonds. How about you? Are you buying Bonds—and buying as many as you should?

Just Between Us—

—By Bobby Westbrook

The Dutch have a word for "spritzing", that combination of sprinkling and spitting rain which the skies were doing most of yesterday—when they weren't upsetting the whole rain barrel on unwary heads.

If yesterday were the first day to spritz all day, nobody would have been complaining; but in a solid week of it, positions tend to mildew right along with the week's wash which won't get dry and the family shoes which have a tendency to squelch even in the house.

Children with the last week of vacation before school are suffering more than most people—except their parents.

However, if there is any bright spot for residents, it's the fact that they aren't spending good vacation time and money for a handful of rain. This is weather we don't want even when we get it for free. To be paying for it would be

Council Delays Action On Parking Complaints

STROUDSBURG Borough Council last night took no action on protests from residents of Scott and Thomas Sts. on one-side parking regulations recently adopted for the two thoroughfares.

A delegation of approximately six persons — representing about 80 signers of a petition asking for parking on both sides of the streets — appeared at last night's meeting.

streets it is impossible to move fire equipment through the area.

The fire department does not want one-way streets with parking on both sides," Phillips told the delegation after such a suggestion was made.

Council authorized changing of a stop sign from Sixth St.

er, N. Fifth St., Stroudsburg, who offered $51 for it.

Authorized Solicitor George T. Robinson to prepare necessary resolutions and trust amendments to effect changes in the police pension plan to provide for retirement at age 60 or following 20 years of service, whichever is latest, with pension benefits equal to 50 percent of base compensation, including estimated primary social security benefits.

Adopted a resolution recognizing encroachment of Kramer Ave. on property of Monitor Dispenser Co.

Appointed James F. McConnell, retired police chief, to a five-year term on the Police Civil Service Commission. He succeeds W. L. Kremer whose term expired and who has moved from the borough.

Dined a request of Jack Muehlein, 5 S. Sixth St., to cut the curb and remove one parking meter to provide access to a parking lot.

Sold to Jesse Felker, Portland police chief, a 1942 Harley Davidson motorcycle owned by the police department on his bid of $76.01. The only other bidder was Russell Cram-

Madelene Lee Pettet showed real pathos as Big Mama, the butt of Big Daddy's cruel jokes. She

Victories For U.S. Continue At Games On Wednesday

Californian, Teacher Set The Pace

By Ted Smits
Associated Press Sports Editor

CHICAGO (AP) — The unlikely combination of a pretty 20-year-old miss from California and a wiry New England schoolteacher set the victory pace Wednesday for the United States in the Pan-American Games.

Competing in an equestrian event usually the domain of cavalry officers, Miss Trish Galvin of Santa Barbara won the dressage gold medal. The Californian beat three crack riders from the Chilean army.

John Kelley, 29, of Groton, Conn., who stands 5-6 and weighs 125, won the marathon in the games—record time of 2:27:54.2 for the 26 miles, 385 yard race. This compares favorably with the winning time at the last Olympics of 2:25:00. It was the first time an American has won the marathon in Pan-American or Olympic competition since 1909 when John J. Hayes took the prize at the London Olympics.

Four More Medals

In all, the United States won four more gold medals in track Wednesday, three in swimming, which with Miss Galvin's contribution and two in shooting brought Uncle Sam's total to 43 gold medals, 29 silver medals for second, and 17 bronze for third.

The nearest rival is the West Indies Federation with 1 gold, 4 silver and 7 bronze medals.

The track and field aspect of the games concluded Wednesday. In the men's events the United States grabbed a total of 18 gold medals. Fifteen games records were set.

Last Winners

Victors included:

Daryl Burleson, Cottage Grove, Ore., who led a 1-2-3 Yank sweep in the 1,500 and 2,000 meters.

The United States men's 400-meter relay team, which won in 40.4, and the American girls team in 44.6, which has a new record.

Buster Quist of Albuquerque, N.M., who led another sweep in the javelin and set a new games mark of 231 feet 3 1/4 inches.

Adhemar da Silva of Brazil, two-time Olympic champion, also won the hop, step and jump with 52 feet 2 inches.

New Games Mark

Powered by American-trained George Kerr, the West Indies set a new games mark of 3:05.3 in the 1,600 meters relay, nosing out the United States.

Ray Norton of Oakland, Calif., was the individual star of track. He won both the 100 and 200 and anchored the winning 400 meter relay for a total of three gold medals.

A surprise occurred in tennis. Yolanda Ramirez and Rosa Reyes of Mexico captured the women's doubles title by defeating Althea Gibson of New York and Karol Fageros of Coconut Grove, Fla., 6-8, 7-5, 6-1.

In baseball, the United States clobbered Costa Rica 28-0 and Venezuela was scarcely less merciful in beating Brazil 14-1.

Recognize Fullmer As World Champ

NEW YORK (AP) — Gene Fullmer is recognized as the world middleweight champion by the National Boxing Assn. as a result of his recent victory over Carmen Basilio, but he's only the No. 1 contender in the ratings of Ring Magazine.

Nat Fleischer, editor of Ring, continues to recognize Sugar Ray Robinson as titleholder, but admits that if Robinson doesn't agree to defend his version of the crown against Fullmer within a reasonable time "there will be no alternative but to regard Ray as a retired champion."

Basilio is dropped from the No. 1 challenger spot to No. 3 as a result of his knockout defeat by champion Davey Moore. Ricardo Gonzalez of Argentina takes over Basilio's former No. 1 spot, and Harold Gomes of Providence, R.I., edges up into second place.

Hogan (Kid) Bassey, former featherweight champion, is dropped to No. 3 in that division as a result of his knockout defeat by champion Davey Moore. Ricardo Gonzalez of Argentina takes over Bassey's former No. 1 spot, and Harold Gomes of Providence, R.I., edges up into second place.

Among the heavyweights Willie Pastrano is dropped from the first 10 by Ring. Alex Miteff, victor over Alonso Johnson takes over eighth place among the big boys.

From The Bench

By Bob Stewart

Although the Twin City Poconos lost their two bids for softball immortality at Long Beach, just the fact that they were entered in the contest should give more than just some pride to residents of this area.

Sportsmanship is shown more off the field than on, and more by the fans than the players.

No one enters any kind of competition to lose, and to lose to a better team, but make a real contest of it, is just as hard as winning over superior odds.

In their two games the Twin City Poconos had nine runs scored against them, which averages out to an impossible four and one-half runs a game. Even at five runs a game, against the competition at Long Beach, it would have been good.

The idea that this area, not a huge metropolitan city such as Pittsburgh or Philadelphia, sent the team is another reason to be proud, win or lose.

The Twin City Poconos traveled the longest distance to enter the tournament. Along with them went the popular Tom Waring, as Monroe County's and the Poconos' ambassador of good will to the West Coast.

Certainly they had a lot of laughs off the field in California, but on the field they undoubtedly did their best, and no person can ask more of his athletes, individually or collectively.

Clyde Burke, affable public information officer at the Tobyhanna Signal Depot, has a million reasons why the Kentucky Colonels should win the top rating in the national basketball picture.

If they should lose, we wonder if he'll have some excuses.

One of the amazing things about Sandy Koufax, holder with Bob Feller of the Major League strikeout record, is that he is not a Mid-West farmboy, but hails from the quiet Borough of Brooklyn.

The Hershey Bears will be playing a 36-game schedule this season in their league, and will play three exhibition games with National Hockey League opponents.

Rain Cancels Playoff Game In NY-P Loop

WELLSVILLE, N. Y. (AP) — The opening game of the playoff championship of the New York-Penn League between Elmira and Wellsville was rained out in the fourth inning Wednesday night.

The umpires called the game and said it would be replayed here Thursday night. The game was delayed 50 minutes.

The clubs were tied 4-all, with a Braves runner on third base, when the rains came.

The championship will be determined in a best of five series.

Twin City Poconos Get Key To The City Of Long Beach

LONG BEACH, Calif.—The key to the City of Long Beach was presented to the Twin City Poconos Softball Team Monday in ceremonies at the World International Softball Tournament.

Long Beach Mayor Ray C. Keeler presented the key to Twin City manager Ray Davies and team captain Harold Freeman. The Poconos will present the same key to the burgesses of the Stroudsburgs upon arriving in Monroe County later this week or the first part of next week.

The Pennsylvania flag was waving and the band blared when Davies accepted the tribute of Long Beach before 2,000 fans.

The Poconos, winners of the Keystone State softball championship are representing Pennsylvania as well as the Poconos.

Yesterday was an off-day for the Poconos and many of the team members took in places of interest such as Disneyland, Hollywood, and other prominent spots of film-land.

The squad assembled for two meetings Monday, one with manager Davies and another with the tournament committee.

The session with the team was to straighten out plane reservations for the trip back East and also to greet the last Pocono player to arrive. He was Jim Mobley, a fleet-footed outfielder who missed the plane at Philadelphia by 10 minutes.

Mobley, from Marcus Hook, Pa., taxied into the International Airport at Philadelphia just as the plane left the ground.

Mobley was in the starting lineup Tuesday night when the once-defeated Poconos lost to Rock Island, Ill.

Yankees Win 4-3 Yesterday From Nats On Berra's Homer

NEW YORK (AP) — Yogi Berra's two-run eighth-inning homer gave the New York Yankees the cushion they needed.

Wednesday night for a 4-3 victory over the Washington Senators. Berra's homer (his 18th) followed a leadoff single by Tony Kubek off loser Pete Ramos (12-16) and broke a 2-all tie.

The Nats then scored in the ninth, on Harmon Killebrew's double and a single by Clint Courtney, before Jim Coates, the winner relief, fanned pinch-hitter Faye Throneberry and got pinch-hitter Hal Naragon on a game-ending grounder with the tying run on second.

Coates (4-1) came on after starter Duke Maas was lifted for a pinch-hitter when the Yankees stopped them and prevented Boston from moving up a notch in the standings.

Bob Boyd, in an unusual cleanup position for the Orioles, figured in both Baltimore rallies. He doubled to open the second inning and after a walk to Gus Triandos, scored as Brooks Robinson beat out a bunt and losing pitcher Tom Brewer threw wildly past third. Rookie Berry Shetrone then doubled Triandos home.

Single by Al Pilarcik and Bob Nieman, and a safe bunt by Boyd loaded the bases in the third for Baltimore. A walk to Triandos forced in one run and another came across on a ground out.

The victory ended a four-game losing streak for Baltimore and topped O'Dell's record to 8-10. It was his first shutout of the season. Brewer has an identical record.

Six Musicians Feature Millions Of Notes

DELAWARE WATER GAP — A group of six men get together every Thursday night to create an interesting sound at the "home of jazz" in the Poconos, here at Deer Head Inn.

These gentlemen seem to entrap and capture their audience with the happy beat of jazz that comes from the hearts of a trombone, clarinet, trumpet, piano, bass, and drums.

Many local people will be familiar with the trombone and the clarinet player. On trombone Parke Frankenfeld and on clarinet and sax, Charles Messina.

Both these boys know their stuff. Frankenfeld plays the "bone" with beautiful finesse and tone, with a sort of agility that tells you he enjoys what he's doing.

Messina on clarinet can also "take-off" when the moment is right. His fingers can fly over the "stick" and he gets a sweet wail that starts you moving.

Dengler, old reliable, who does a job on trumpet.

John is a native of the Swiftwater area.

Although Thursday night is singled-out to be Dixieland night the above mentioned never quite attain pure Dixieland, but hit a middle ground between a happy-beat jazz and dixie. However, the music is good and fills one with much delight when each man takes off on a solo or when they all play together.

The old story about "we don't play good, but we sure are loud" is only a half-truth with this crew. They do play loud but also good... the boys can also tonedown when the occasion occurs.

The Poconos could use more of America's one true art-form, Jazz. There are many lovers of this music throughout the Poconos and many more who would come to love it if they were exposed to it.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION APPROVED FOR THE FIRST TIME AND FOR THE SECOND TIME BY THE SESSION OF 1959 OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF PENNSYLVANIA AND PUBLISHED BY THE ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH IN PURSUANCE OF ARTICLE XVIII OF THE CONSTITUTION.

SECTION OF 1959

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to article two, section four of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by providing for annual sessions of the General Assembly.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby resolves as follows:

Section 1. The following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is proposed in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article of the Constitution.

That section four, article two of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be amended as follows:

Section 4. Upon adoption of this amendment the General Assembly shall adjourn on the first Tuesday of January of the year following such adoption, and shall meet at such time annually thereafter, unless otherwise provided by law, and when convened by the Governor.

At regular sessions convened in even-numbered years the General Assembly shall adjourn on the last day of January, unless otherwise provided by law, except laws raising revenue and laws making appropriations.

No. 1 John S. Rice Secretary of the Commonwealth

Basic Steps

Walback said the basic steps in judging art are (1) determining what the artist's purpose has been in painting the picture, and (2) has he been able to accomplish what he attempted?

Art, he said, concerns itself with the emotional aspects within the person; and not with the similarities of life, but with the differences.

Man is governed by his emotions, often ignoring the facts, and he will fight and die for his concepts, Walback observed, adding that words are what upset us. For example, Russia and the United States both speak of democracy and both mean what they say. However, both are speaking of two different things, and these differences are what make each ready to fight.

The speaker also referred to the artist's emotional reaction to color, to horizontal vs. vertical lines, his search within himself for the concept of reality and, in a reference to mass psychology, to the fact that the great majority of people may favor one painting over another but that does not make it a better work of art.

Walther served as program chairman and introduced the speaker.

Baby, Costume Parade To Be Among Fair Features

NEWFOUNDLAND — More and better than ever: that's the word received from Mrs. John Cunningham, chairman of the baby and costume parade which is to be a featured event Saturday in the Greene-Dreher-Sterling Community Fair which opened yesterday on the fairgrounds.

There will be more youngsters registered this year in the parade, and it will be better than ever with the addition of a costume class.

A special costume parade will be held for youngsters between the ages of six and 12 years. Any kind of costumes will be admitted, and awards will be made to the boy and girl whose costumes will be admitted, and awards will be made to the boy and girl whose costume is selected as outstanding.

The baby parade classes will include from birth to three years, and from three to six years. A boy and a girl will be selected from each group.

The children will parade across the band shell platform, beginning at 3:30 p.m., with Clayton Northup as announcer. Among the judges will be Edith Mae Konkle, Pennsylvania Honey Queen from Sheridan.

Disciples Seek Test Suspension

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Representatives of two million Protestants urged the United States recently to continue its suspension of nuclear testing indefinitely.

The action came at the International Convention of Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) after a brief flurry of debate.

Six-State Celebration FIVE STATES, other than his birthplace of New York, are preparing to celebrate the centennial birthday observance of Theodore Roosevelt.
